The World of

the University

... is a composite. It is a composite of mental, physical and spiritual activities, each taking its own distinct position to complete the cycle of student life. It is the dawn which awakens the students and sends them forth into the masses of eager and curious people with a driving determination to attain their individual measures of success.

They come, with a thousand expectations. They stay, with a thousand hopes. They leave, with a thousand memories. And somewhere along the way, each has pasted so carefully in his mental scrapbook, those countless souvenirs that will someday remind him of the world of his university.

The Structure of the University . . . is as varied

as its academic and student life. It depicts the various aspects of Ole Miss prosperity and bears a rich testimony to its history and heritage. With the deep consecration of the institution to its students, it displays all the qualities of integrity that are fitting to such a place of higher learning.

With the stately Lyceum as the center, the other structures join in to complete the spokes of the wheel. The geology building, the Y, the ancient residences long since converted into classroom space are ever-present as reminders of generations gone before, while the Graduate Building finds its special place for lasting memories. Newer, but no less symbolic of tradition, are the Engineering Building, the Commerce Building, and Meek

Hall. They too occupy one of the spokes and contribute to the facilitation of a better learning environment.

New buildings in the past few years have been cropping up like mushrooms, with greater demands being placed on the university by increased enrollment and a growing curriculum. Decoration has been sacrificed to function; Greek revival has given way to "factory modern." Yet, the Ole Miss campus has avoided any semblance of a hodge-podge effect through the beauty of its greatest physical features---the rolling hills and magnificent trees, the picturesque seasonal panorama bringing new loveliness each year to the natural setting which, above all else, makes Ole Miss look like home.

The foundation of our world . . . has been built on solid ground, with years of tradition and integrity to substantiate its worthy claims. With founders who were able to foresee the potential which was later to become one of the most respected and applauded institutions in the nation, the University of Mississippi is able to point with pride to its offerings, and especially to those pertaining directly to academic standings. It seeks to present a diversified and broadening curriculum, enabling its students to find for themselves what is more appropriate and meaningful for their own demands.

The College of Liberal Arts has designed its program to provide students with a wider scope of intellectual acquaintance, while the School of Law thrives on the realization that it is instilling within its students the fundamental codes by which the nation has been made great. The School of Engineering sends forth the opportunity for one of the most promising careers in today's world, and the School of Education is based on the desire to give its majors the necessary understanding for their selected professions.

The School of Medicine is able to offer the complete program in its accredited courses, and the School of Pharmacy with its facilities endows the future pharmacists with the vast scope of learning for this specialized study. With an eye for the increasing job opportunities in the field, the School of Commerce and Business Administration makes possible instruction courses ranging from secretarial science to public relations, and the University's Graduate School advances the individual's learning into deeper concentration on his major work.

With cooperation, with much deliberation, and with a keen insight into the students' needs, these blocks have been carefully laid in the foundation of the University in order to serve the student and to aid him in meeting the evergrowing demands of the world in which he will live. The mortar by which they are held together is the determination of the administration, the faculty, and the student body to push ever onward toward new heights and to achieve, finally, the complete educational knowledge which is the very essence of successful careers. ■ ■ ■

Our world is full of people . . . they are an amalgamation of all the various ingredients which compose their thousands of contrasting backgrounds. The comparatively short time when their lives merge and run along the same path serves as a vast melting pot which combines their difference in opinions, their diversity in interests, and their variation in perspectives.

In their four years at the University, all the elemental dissimilarities of these people seem to be cast aside, and all eyes focus toward one ultimate aim--a unified effort to prepare for the future. During the time when they become the life of Ole Miss and Ole Miss becomes their life, the deep chasm between their worlds closes and pulls them closer together, binding them with common ties and mutual respect.

With education as the universal target, the many viewfinders are still toward their own individual goals---each student plotting his strategy and planning his course in order to aim straight and reach his mark. Through persistent endeavors toward the educational aspect, they seek to ignite the flames of learning on the college level, and through their constant associations, they strive to achieve a more complete conception of a successful life in modern society.

The people of the University demand of it enlightenment, understanding and knowledge. They give to it their ideas, their time and their devotion. They defend it to others; they decry its faults to themselves; and they assume its traditions as their rightful heritage.

Our world of the University looks to the future of far horizons...

... and in that future, it expects to find an ever-increasing program of progress. It expects to reach its goals for the betterment of student welfare and to set new goals, always seeking to find more applicable techniques in which to provide its people with a superior environment for learning.

The world of the university looks forward with great anticipation to more days of Ole Miss success. It reviews the past with satisfaction, it lives the present with enthusiasm, and it strives ever into the future with hope and determination to maintain the vast integrity that symbolizes the world of the university.

Administration

This section of the OLE Miss recognizes the outstanding completion of another year through the efforts of our officials on the state and local level. These individuals are responsible for coordinating the activities of the eight schools—collectively the core of Ole Miss. Each unit continues to better the facilities for its students, and, as a result, makes the whole stronger.

Honorable Ross R. Barnett
Governor of Mississippi

The Honorable Ross R. Barnett is another illustrious alumnus of Ole Miss to grace the Governor's chair. He has long been an ardent supporter of his Alma Mater and is a true son of the Old South. Governor Barnett's devotion to State's Rights is known not only in the South, but throughout the nation.

One of the highlights of the first year of his administration was increased emphasis on industrialization with more job opportunities to the youth of our beloved state. Also of note is the Governor's dedication toward bettering educational opportunities for young Mississippians. For these many reasons, he is a loyal son of Ole Miss.

The Chancellor of the University

*Doctor
John D. Williams*

Chancellor John D. Williams has provided a type of leadership which has caused Ole Miss to become a true University. Since he assumed his position here in 1946, the University has broadened its intellectual perspective, has expanded its physical facilities, and has originated a unique program of continuing education.

The quality of the faculty has improved, tenure has been established, and an atmosphere of learning has been attained. The enrollment has increased steadily and Ole Miss has become the focal point for a majority of high school students in this region. The continuing educational program has resulted in the Continuation Center with its related facilities. Almost every profession, business, and trade utilize these facilities annually with the result that the University has become an instrument of service to the business and professional world.

Dr. Williams' gracious manner, his devotion to Ole Miss, to Mississippi, and to the nation, his charming and winsome personality, and his willingness to speak in every nook and cranny of the state have endeared him to all who know him. He is an indefatigable worker, an able administrator, an eminent scholar, and, above all, a Christian gentleman.

The Board of Trustees of Institutions of Higher Learning is composed of a group of dedicated Mississippians who are willing to give up much of their valuable time to help guide the educational program of their state. The students of the University do not often get a chance to meet any of the members of the Board personally, but each one of us is constantly aware of the work that they have done and are doing in our behalf.

The new buildings that are being constructed all around us and the other expansions in the physical facilities of the University are only a few of the many ways that we are reminded of their work. The most important manifestation of their faith in us students and our ability to think for ourselves came this past year. The action that the Board took in standing behind the faculty and the staff of the University is far more important and is needed a great deal more than a million new buildings; for without the freedom to think and grow intellectually, the University would not be able to dignify its name and there would be no need for buildings of any kind. The students of the University are proud that we have such a Board of Trustees leading us.

DR. CHARLES F. HAYWOOD

A. B., M. A., Ph. D.

Working with the deans of the instructional subdivisions and with the Director of the University is one of Dr. Haywood's major duties as Provost. He also coordinates the work of the various units of the Academic Division in matters of academic policy and faculty administration, and in the absence of the Chancellor serves as chief administrative officer of the University.

MR. HUGH H. CLEGG

B. A., LL. B., LL. D.

By directing the Department of Development and serving in a staff capacity as Assistant to the Chancellor, Hugh H. Clegg's major responsibilities are separated into three principal fields: public relations, news service, and development. His immediate concern, however, is with the furthering of the services, resources, assets, and standing of the University. Much of the work of the Office of Development is accomplished through twelve committees of outstanding Mississippians and these committees are coordinated by the Director.

MR. E. E. DAVIDSON

B. B. A., M. B. A., C. P. A.

Mr. E. E. Davidson, Comptroller, assists in the preparation of the University budget and reports periodically on financial matters to the Chancellor. Many are the worries that beset the editor and staff of the 1961 OLE Miss from its beginning to its completion. Trouble began as early as October when the photographers arrived to make the class pictures. Naturally most of the students had forgotten about the appointments which they had made during registration and, in spite of repeated reminders via the campus radio, loudspeaker, and newspaper, proceeded to wait until the last week. The mob scene that ensued on the third floor of the Y Building resulted in the editor receiving several very nasty letters.

Next on the headache list is the Parade of Favorites. Since no one on the staff had ever put on a pageant of this sort before, it was really an experience for all. Adding to the problems was the fact that a new method for selecting the beauties was being tried. (Five judges were chosen for this purpose instead of the old method of a secret student committee and a movie star.) As it turned out, this system was so satisfactory that a bill was put through the Campus Senate establishing it as the standard procedure for years to come. However, shortly after the Parade someone pointed an accusing finger at the annual staff and in came the second barrage of vicious letters.

The remainder of the year is a tale of rushing to take pictures and write copy, and of staying up all night before deadlines. The older staff members were used to these chores and the newer ones caught on fast. By working together as a team, they were able to overcome the obstacles and produce the yearbook. Without this team there would have been no OLE MISS. And the editor? Well, he has a good case of stomach ulcers but is very glad it's all over.

The Mississippian

Under the worried visage of Editor Mac Dale, The Mississippian wheezed through its 50th consecutive year of publication on the Ole Miss Campus. Due to unforeseen printing handicaps, Editor Dale was forced to adopt the motto "Better Late Than Never" for a goodly portion of the year.

Associate Editor Larry Speakes and Managing Editor Bill Barton supplied the chicken wire which held the whole operation together, while such incidentals as the payroll and operating expenses were placed in the tight fists of Business Manager Bobby Massengill.

Editors Barton, Philips, and Dale proof first copy of the Mississippian.

Bobby Massengill, Business Manager

Assistant Editor Paul Gray let off steam via his weekly column, while Jimmie Robertson belted out numerous and pungent editorials, Assistant Managing Editor Don Keith gathered information; News Editor Jim Roberts rode herd over a group of skittish freshman reporters, aided immeasurably by Robin Reed; and Barbara Bentz and Cindi Karer shared honors as Society Editor.

John Gregory took care of the features, while Tommy Alewine used a velvet glove on anyone with money enough to purchase an advertisement. Al Doty aided Massengill in the matters of high finance. Sam Duvall had the thankless job of photographing the cuties and other events of news value, while Al Atkinson contributed the cartoons which dressed up the editorial page. Circulation Manager Joe Coleman was in charge of directing the finished product into the hands of breathless students.

These, plus many, many more, made up the staff of The Mississippian.

A. S. B. Dance Committee

The A.S.B. Dance Committee was chosen by Doug Abraham, President of the A.S.B., and Hugh Lovelady, chairman of the committee. This group is organized to take care of several areas—"booking of the bands," welcoming, publicity, ticket sales, chaperones, and other incorporated services. It is the responsibility of the committee to sponsor all A.S.B. dances, street dances, and concerts.

This committee works in conjunction with the other schools in the state through the aid of the Mississippi Inter-Collegiate Dance Committee. By working together, and artists series can be offered throughout the state, thus cutting down on the agents fees. It is by this method that such celebrities as the Kingston Trio, Joni James, and Bo Diddley have appeared at Ole Miss in recent years. To start the series of concerts for this year, the Brothers Four appeared in October and Dave Gardner in November.

The Cumberland Three entertained in Fulton Chapel.

To comedian Bob Hope . . . "Thanks for the memories."

Ole Miss students enjoyed dances after two home football games. Danny White and the Cavaliers played for the Homecoming Dance, following the L.S.U. clash, and the Downbeats played after the Chattanooga game. They also furnished the music for the street dances after pep rallies.

The spring semester saw at Ole Miss the most outstanding performance in many years. After long negotiations, Chairman Lovelady and his committee were able to secure world-famous comedian, Bob Hope, for a campus show. The veteran performer, along with singer Dodie Stevens, entertained for two hours before a capacity crowd of over 3,000. It will be a long time before Ole Miss stops talking about this most memorable of evenings.

Entertainment, of course, assumes an important place in the lives of all Ole Miss students, and the dance committee strives to provide the best for the students.

The Down Beats played for pre-game street dance.

Brother Dave strikes again.

The Moot Court Board

The members of the Moot Court Board are chosen from those students in the School of Law who have demonstrated outstanding scholarship and leadership ability. It is the function of the Board, under the direction of the Chairman, who is selected annually by the faculty, to conduct the moot court program in a proper and efficient manner.

The purpose of the moot court program is to familiarize students with the actual practice of law in the courts of Mississippi. It is formulated and conducted so as to stimulate such a practice as closely as possible, and thus give students experience in (1) following procedural rules as established by law in Mississippi, and; (2) applying substantive law to a given factual situation. Accordingly, students participate in both trial and appellate work, including interviewing clients and witnesses, preparing appellate briefs, and conducting courtroom arguments. Justices in appellate cases consist of one faculty member and two senior law students, and a well-known practicing attorney usually sits as judge in trial cases.

The Chairman of the Moot Court Board is Charles W. Pickering, and Professor William P. Murphy serves as Faculty Advisor.

Valuable experience is gained through participation in the University Players.

The University Players, under the direction of Dr. Charles M. Getchell and sponsored by the Speech Department, has established an outstanding record of drama work.

Finishing the 1960 season with Clare Booth's "The Women," The University Players completed a very successful year. The first play of the 1961 session was Robinson Jeffers' adaption of "Medea," the famed Greek tragedy. Directed by Dr. Getchell, this play was followed by the fantasy "Dear Brutus" by James M. Barrie, under the direction of Miss Ann Daniel.

Announced for production in December by the student directors' group were six one-act plays to be presented in the Fine Arts Center. Included in this series were August Strindberg's "Miss Julie", Tennessee Williams' "Portrait of a Madonna", and "Father Noah" by Geoffrey Whitworth. Other plays directed by this group were "The Monkey's Paw", "The Chess Game", and "Hello Out There".

This year was certainly a success both in the selection of plays and in the polished productions.

Even rain could not keep the crowds from attending a performance by the "Players."

The Features

According to tradition, the OLE Miss features some of the loveliest girls in the land. This year is no exception. Not only are we featuring girls and a gentleman who have won fame on our campus but they have also won national acclaim.

We feature Miss Ole Miss, our ideal southern belle, full of love for her school; Colonel Rebel, the embodiment of a Southern gentleman; the five girls chosen as most beautiful on our campus; the five alternate beauties; ten of the favorites on campus; members of the Hall of Fame; Homecoming Queen; Rebelee Queen; and Miss University who represents us in the Mississippi pageant.

As added attractions this year we are featuring Miss Mississippi and the Maid of Cotton.

Judges Select the Beauties

This year for the first time the beauties were selected by a panel of five judges who ranked the contestants on beauty, charm, and poise. The judges were Maurice Thompson, Vice President of Lamar Life Broadcasting Company and program director for station WLBT in Jackson; Mrs. Dewitt Hicks, head of the Personal Appearance Department at M.S.C.W. and affiliate of the John Robert Powers' Modeling Schools; Mr. Norman E. Shaw, past editor of the OLE Miss and a representative of Benson Printing Co.; Mrs. John V. Hummel, Miss America of 1947 from Memphis, Tennessee; and Dr. Charles M. Getchell, Chairman of the Speech Department here at the University.

On the afternoon of the Parade of Favorites and Beauties a reception was given by the OLE Miss at which time the judges met the contestants. In the evening during the parade all of the beauties were presented and the number was narrowed down to ten. These ten were then presented and five of them were chosen to be the top beauties. The order of rank of these five remained a secret until the publication of this yearbook.

Many and varied were the topics of conversation as beauties and judges got acquainted.

A tense moment . . . who are the top five?

During the change of scenery the audience was entertained by Joan Jeffrey and Guy Hovis, two of our very talented students. The Downbeats supplied the background music throughout the Parade, as the lovely young ladies were escorted across the stage by Warner Alford, Arthur Doty, Charles Correia, and Walker Watters.

Fulton Chapel overflowed on that night in November.

This Rebelette is a home economics major and a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority.

Miss Rita Wilson

The titles of Miss Rita Wilson of Humboldt, Tennessee, read like a well planned dinner. She has been National Catfish Queen, National Sweet Corn Queen, Miss Okra and to top it off Strawberry Festival Princess. She has been Miss Humboldt twice and a runner-up to Miss Tennessee and was chosen Miss Channel Five and Colonel's Lady. This pretty speech major led the parade as Drum Majorette and was first alternate to Miss Majorette of America. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority.

Miss Pat Chadwick

Miss Pat Chadwick represents her city by being Miss Jackson and her state by being first alternate in the Miss Mississippi pageant. Coincidentally she was also Junior Miss Jackson and first alternate in the Junior Miss Mississippi contest. She is the group sponsor of the Air Force, a member of Kappa Delta Sorority, and a music education major.

Miss Sandra Scarbrough

The charming Miss Sandra Scarbrough ably represented Mississippi as Miss Hospitality. She represented her hometown of Meadville well as Miss Franklin County and Forestry Queen. She plans to have a double major in English and Political Science. Her sorority is Delta Delta Delta.

Miss Ann Adams

This Honor Roll student was also a University Scholar and is a member of Mortar Board, honorary service, leadership, and scholarship organization. Miss Ann Adams showed her leadership ability by being President of Hefley Dormitory and on the President's Council. She was a University Modern Dancer and a Campus Senator. This outstanding girl graduated in January and is now in graduate school studying psychology. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

The highest honor that can be bestowed upon an Ole Miss student is to be selected to the Hall of Fame. Members of the Hall of Fame are chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, loyalty, spirit, devotion, and service to the University.

The selection is conducted in such a manner as to be entirely free from campus politics. A selection committee established by the Campus Senate sends out requests for nominations to the persons holding the 12 most important positions on the campus. Those persons nominate twenty-four students to make the actual selection. The twenty-four students who are elected then vote for the six students on the campus whom they feel deserve this great honor. The six students who receive the greatest number of votes from the committee of twenty-four are the ones who are selected.

Those chosen for membership in the 1961 Hall of Fame are: Jim Yelverton, Vice President of the Associated Student Body; Jean Rawson, Secretary of the Associated Student Body; Bill Nobles, Chairman of the Judicial Council and Past Vice President of the Associated Student Body; Jake Gibbs, Colonel Rebel and Football and Baseball All American; Dean Copeland, Cadet Battle Group Commander of the Army ROTC and Rhodes Scholar; and Douglas Abraham, President of the Associated Student Body.

They stand out on Thursdays . . .
the green of the Army, the light and dark blue of the Air Force and Navy . . . shined shoes on every foot . . . brass straight and hair cut . . . but Thursdays are not the only day they serve . . .
there are summer camps and cruises, classes during the week, and base visitations on the weekends . . . and then when graduation day arrives, a commission . . .
and fulfillment of a four year desire.

To meet the challenge of the increasing demand for personnel trained as engineers and scientists to cope with the problems and complexities of modern day warfare, the Navy Department established the Navy Enlisted Scientific Education Program. This program was established here at the University the fall semester 1958, and is designed to provide a college education leading to a baccalaureate degree to Navy and Marine Corps enlisted personnel that possess outstanding qualifications. Upon completion of four years of study in the broad fields of science and engineering these enlisted students will be eligible for a commission in the Navy or Marine Corps.

Five Term Training Program

The Five Term College Training Program was initiated in 1945 by the Secretary of the Navy. Its purpose is to provide commissioned officers of the Regular Navy in the rank of Lieutenant Commander and below with the opportunity to receive academic training equivalent to five terms of College-level education. Officers assigned to the program will receive an education equal to that given to officers who are graduates of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. After these officers completion of their present studies here, they will return to duty assignments within the Naval Establishment on ships and stations, both in this country and overseas.

MAJ. DOUGLAS S. CANNING

For the purpose of selecting and training potential officers for the Air Force, the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps, through both regular class study and leadership laboratory exercises, has been in progress at Ole Miss since 1947.

The Department of Air Science consist of four officers and three airmen. Supervised by the University and Air Force ROTC Headquarters, they conduct the Air Science course of study which is divided into two phases, Basic and Advanced Air Science.

The first two years of academic study are devoted to air-power and its importance to the security of the nation. In the final two years, in the advanced course, stress is placed upon Air Force procedures and development of leadership and communication abilities.

The senior cadets who are selected for pilot training are given 36 hours of flying training at the University-Oxford Airport. All cadets are offered the opportunity to participate in orientation flights in late-type military aircraft and to observe the application of principles learned in the classroom and leadership laboratory. In addition, all advanced cadets attend a four week summer training unit at a regular Air Force Base.

Athletics

. . . are a constant source of pride and prestige at Ole Miss. As Mississippi's good will ambassadors to the nation, these rugged combatants have displayed character, poise, and ability to the ever-critical public --- and the public has accepted them as its representatives, loyal to the high traditions of American society. Truly the Rebels are a part of Ole Miss, just as Ole Miss is a part of them.

We're Number 1

All America Jake Gibbs checked the opposition defensive alignments.

The year 1960 was one of many memories for Colonel Rebel. The Colonel's basketball entry for the '59-'60 campaign scored the comeback of the year, vaulting from last to fourth in the tough SEC. Then in baseball the nine riflemen of Coach Tom Swayze literally swamped all opposition and posted a 17 game winning streak en route to a 22-3 record, a second straight conference title, and the number five rating in the nation. But this was only the beginning.

Pre-season polls placed the Colonel's gridiron entry in the number two slot at the starting gate. Houston's helpless Cougar succumbed and the AP said NUMBER ONE. Kentucky fell and we were still riding high with the AP and just a notch shy in the UPI. Memphis State almost brought disaster, and both wire services decided to think it over again.

Then Vandy's Commodore sank, and everybody had us NUMBER ONE. However, we let Tulane score too much, and the next week we were back to second. After Arkansas, still second. LSU's Tigers invaded for Homecoming, and one would have thought it was their Homecoming as they stopped the Colonel with a draw. Down to number six.

The Colonel didn't give up. Chattanooga brought us back to fourth, and Tennessee up to second. The crushing of Cow College was not convincing enough so we closed the regular season number two in the AP, number three in the UPI.

It was 1961 before we finally convinced 'em. The Colonel romped and rolled all over Sugar Bowl Stadium until nobody could be in doubt. Several days later we received a telegram from the Football Writers Association of America. It read: "YOU'RE NUMBER ONE!"

Sugar Bowl

The occasion and the scene, the crowds and the team—all combined to say WE'RE NUMBER ONE!

The Crescent City may not soon forget the latest invasion of the mighty Colonel, but the memory of the wise old Owl will undoubtedly linger for many years. The crafty fowl from Rice was intent on proving the superiority of his intellect. Instead he was forced to wing his way home muttering something like, "It wasn't fair. He had a gun and I didn't."

The Rifleman started it all at the first and cleaned up the mess at the end, being voted the battle's most valuable soldier for his efforts. The first one took just three minutes as the Rifleman led the Colonel's troup through 65 yards of enemy terrain and their first entry into pay dirt.

Then the Owl took to flight and found that battle up there was much more profitable, much less bloody, than that on the ground. Winged in the arm early in the fourth by the wild shooting Owl, the Colonel got down to serious business, and riding the backs of Doty and the Hoss the Rifleman scored again, infantry style.

The FWAA thought we were NUMBER ONE; so did we. Who needs the UPI and AP anyway?

Halfback Bobby Crespino, having just received a pass from quarterback Jake Gibbs, heads downfield for a sizable gain.

Taking to the air once more, Gibbs fires a strike to halfback George Blair for eleven yards and a first down against the Owls.

The Outstanding Player Award winner for his day's work, All-American Gibbs was just too much for upstart Rice.

The Rebel reserves showed little concern as the Colonel drove his forces downfield.

The battle almost completed, Head Coach John Vaught prepared to send end Ralph Smith into the game with some new defensive strategy.

Gibbs was just too much for upstart Rice.

Ole Miss Athletic Staff

Fourteen years ago a young man from Texas arrived on the Ole Miss campus and assumed the job of head football coach. Today Johnny Vaught ranks as the number two football coach in the nation. His Rebel elevens have won 106 games, lost only 27 and tied seven.

Seven times in the last nine years Coach Vaught has led his Rebels into post-season bowl competition. No other team in the nation can match that record. His teams have consistently been among the top ten in the nation, climaxing with the 1960 winner of the Grantland Rice Trophy as the nation's number one team.

Teamwork has been a trademark not only of Coach Vaught's squads, but also with his coaching staff. No other university can boast such a capable staff of assistants as is found at Ole Miss. Coach Vaught's assistants include Bruiser Kinard, Buster Poole, John Cain, Junie Hovious, Wobble Davidson, Tom Swayze, Ray Poole, Roland Dale, Country Graham, and Doc Knight.

Handling the administrative chores for the University Department of Intercollegiate Athletics are a pair of veterans who have been at Ole Miss for a combined total of more than sixty years.

Claude M. (Tad) Smith became Athletic Director on February 1, 1946, and has served continuously and with distinction in that post ever since. As athletic "boss" his foresight and planning have been instrumental in the steady development of Rebel athletic prestige, in building good will for the University, and in the expansion of its athletic physical plant.

Jeff Hamm, Business Manager of Intercollegiate Athletics, has been a University official for 36 years. He became Business Manager in February of 1946 when the Ole Miss athletic staff was reorganized. He is a recent former president of the Southeastern Conference Business Managers Association.

Freshman Football

Colonel Rebel must have been smiling in 1960 when he watched his freshmen in action, for despite the fact that the record was only two wins against one defeat this year's frosh squad displayed a gridiron potential not seen since Franklin, Terrell, Kirk & Co. were first year men.

There were countless standouts during the year, and as soon as Coach John Vaught has had a chance to instill his magic called teamwork into them the Colonel might well be NUMBER ONE again—maybe even when these boys are juniors.

The spooks of L.S.U.'s Tiger Stadium, those which have haunted Colonel Rebel on so many occasions, were present again when the Colonel's frosh invaded on October 15 to open his three game schedule. The Tiger won 17-13, but not without extending forth a maximum effort in the final quarter.

The Tiger took the advantage in the opening period when Durwood Thomas split the upright with a 20-yard field goal. However, the Colonel mounted his hoss and came charging back, and the fabled Perry Lee Dunn scored from four yards out. Frank Kinard converted and the Colonel led 7-3 at half-time.

In the third period it was Dunn again as this time he hurled a 20-yard strike to end Joe Wilkins for six more. The extra point attempt failed, but the Colonel still led 13-3.

The fourth quarter was a nightmare as the Tiger used his magic wand to push over a pair of touchdowns. The Colonel lost this time, but these troops will have three more tries.

The Colonel's yearlings really came of age against Vanderbilt's freshmen Commodores, and with Dunn & Co. again leading the way the Commies fell 31-14. Robert Upchurch and Bobby Chapman started it off by tackling the Vandy quarterback in the end zone for a safety, and moments later Dunn scored from three yards out to give the Colonel a 9-0 advantage at intermission.

Fullback Freddie Roberts was the leg man on the next scoring thrust, his two yard plunge running the count to 16-0. However, the Vandy frosh came charging back and marched 68 yards to narrow the margin to 16-8.

The Colonel never flinched and in the next few moments Dunn supplied both the infantry and the artillery en route to the last two touchdowns of the runaway. End Dennis Brown was on the receiving end of a 41-yard jump pass for the first, and Dunn himself scored the second from four yards out.

Then Cow College decided to try its luck, which as usual ran short. Dunn supplied the spark and Roberts and Buck Randall the man power as the Colonel closed the season on a winning note, 12-6.

The victory had a peculiar significance. Not since 1956 had the Colonel stopped Mississippi State in frosh competition, but still the Cow Boys have been helpless when they reached varsity status. Who knows, if Coach John brings his boys along as he usually does, by 1963 the Colonel may see to it that Scott Field be permanently retired to the soil bank.

The frosh drove 71 yards for their first touchdown only moments after the opening gun, with the big blow coming on a 50-yard strike from Dunn to Randall. Roberts drove down to the four, and Dunn struck pay dirt from that point.

In the third period the Colonel sent his charges once again into the heart of enemy territory, and in twelve plays had again snatched a spot in the 'Necks' end zone when Roberts dove in from a yard out.

The standouts of the year were too numerous to mention here, but their names will undoubtedly dot the sports pages for several years to come. Dunn and Bobby Boyd were top notch quarterbacks; Mitchell Terrell, Randall, and Roberts, top flight ball carriers. In the line there were Upchurch, Charles Hinton, Joe Salloum, Bo Aldridge, Bobby Robinson, Chapman, Brown, and countless others.

Having received a Gibbs-launched aerial, Bobby Crespino (31) sprinted downfield for a sizable gain.

It all started innocently enough, but before this warm September evening ended Colonel Rebel had proven to Houston's Cougar, as well as a large portion of the rest of the nation, that he was NUMBER ONE.

Jake Gibbs, the Rifleman, drew first blood and then struck twice more as the Colonel skinned the Cougar alive. Understudies Elmore and Griffing also contributed point-making passes in the aerial bombardment.

Rugged sophomore Woody Dabbs was on the receiving end twice, while Hoss Anderson, George Blair, Big Jawn Brewer, and Wes Sullivan each accepted one scoring toss from the Colonel's three marksmen.

It's a pity the UPI couldn't have been there.

Ole Miss cheerleader Guy Hovis cut loose with a "Hotty Toddy" as the Rebels poured it on.

Spurred on by the Associated Press rating as the NUMBER ONE team in the nation, Colonel Rebel turned loose his sharp-shooters on Kentucky's helpless Wildcats, and after it was all over ole Colonel had completed his second assignment and launched the SEC championship special.

Rifleman Gibbs increased his stock with the All-American folks by scoring a pair of touchdowns while Doug Elmore added the clincher in the final period.

Battling on the neutral turf of Memphis' Crump Stadium, the Colonel treated his followers to an evening of delight marred only by the fact that the sneaky Wildcats broke the Rebel string of 17 consecutive quarters without yielding a touchdown.

The UPI again was unimpressed.

Maybe it was just the monotony of tackling a member of the feline kingdom for the third straight week, but something definitely was wrong with Colonel Rebel up at Memphis this night. In fact, for three quarters Memphis State's lightly-regarded Tiger gave the Colonel pure hell!

The Rifleman kept the Colonel's forces in line for three quarters, counting scores on a six yard spring and a pair of aerials taken in by long, lanky Bobby Crespino. Finally, in the fourth period Hoss Anderson and Arthur Doty struck pay dirt to pull the battle out of the fire.

The whole evening was truly amazing. Most people had long since forgotten the last time a team scored as many as 20 points against the Rebels, but it's not likely that they'll forget this one.

We knew we were still NUMBER ONE, but the AP and the UPI had their doubts.

The cheerleaders leading the way, Coach Johnny Vaught ushered his Rebels on to the field for another victory.

Having broken into the secondary quarterback Doug Elmore (19) gained valuable yardage against the upstart Tigers.

Colonel Rebel had learned his lesson well the week before and lost no time in sending the Commodore's battleship straight to the bottom.

The Colonel's blitzkrieg moved with precision and power and the poor Admiral was hardly able to fire a shot. First it was Blair. Then the Hoss struck twice, and finally Doty scored another hit for good measure.

The second half proved to be little more than a good scrimmage session as the Colonel exhausted his personnel resources. It seemed almost as if General John was thinking about 1961 already.

On the whole, it was mighty pleasing to the Colonel to see his troops performing like this. In fact they did the job so well that even the UPI boys agreed that we were NUMBER ONE.

Defensive specialist Chico Taylor (21), having intercepted a Commodore aerial, eluded a would-be tackler and sped downfield.

Fullback James (Hoss) Anderson (42) sped past the oncharging Vanderbilt defenders to the Commodore ten yard line.

Tackle Joe Robertson (79) conclusively proved to the Vanderbilt faithful that the best pass defense is a hard-charging line.

The Wave was rugged for a few moments, just enough to make Colonel Rebel angry. Boasting boldly that it would engulf the Colonel and his forces prior to battle, Tulane's Green Wave, for some reason or another, was mighty quiet after the evening became history.

As far as the point-making went, it was all the Rifleman and Big Jawn as this pair of All Star candidates placed three touchdowns on the scoreboard.

Monday morning comment: Damn the AP and the UPI!

Reaching high in the air quarterback Glynn Griffing (15) intercepted a Green Wave aerial.

Ole Colonel Rebel was almost late for dinner this late October evening, and the carefully prepared Arkansas pork almost escaped the Colonel's carving knife. The Colonel kept everyone waiting until the last play of the game before he unsheathed his saber and slashed the upstart Razorback into submission.

The Hog drew first blood in the second period and even had the Colonel fretting a bit as the intermission arrived with the pork seven points to the good.

Then in a brief flash the Colonel converted his magnificent potential energy into kinetic and, via Gibbs-to-Smith, the count was even.

From then on the story is legend. Some say it was wide; others that it was perfect. Still others even contend that he did it twice. Not even the record books contain all the facts. But one thing is certain: the memory of Allen Green will linger forever above the field.

By the middle of the next week, the AP and the UPI were definitely getting on everyone's nerves.

Streaking to evade the outstretched arms of a would-be tackler Jake Gibbs (12) picked up another Rebel first down.

All American Jake Gibbs (12) threaded a path through the rugged Razorback terrain.

It was anybody's ball as the pigskin fell loose from the arms of halfback Louis Guy (32).

The Tigers had just enough of their witches' brew left over from Halloween, 1959, to make it a horrible Homecoming, 1960, for Colonel Rebel. In fact, if it hadn't been for the services of Mr. Green, the Colonel's day would have been downright nightmarish.

Playing on Hemingway sod and before a national television audience, the Colonel wanted very badly to make a good showing for the old grads, but the Bayou Bengal had other ideas. The result: a scoreless first half and a lot of anxiety on the part of the Rebel faithful.

Green did it once in the third period and people felt a little better. Then the bomb dropped. The Tiger snarled and roared, and after it was over he had driven 70 yards for a 6-3 advantage.

Gibbs and Green did their best at the end, but somehow it didn't really seem to matter.

Maybe the AP and the UPI were right.

Fullback Billy Ray Adams (40) found the traffic extremely heavy against the Bengals.

Guiding the Rebels on their last minute comeback, Jake Gibbs (12) fired a perfect strike to his favorite target, Bobby Crespino.

Sullivan, Elmore, and Dabbs scored in the second quarter, and it was obvious to all that the Colonel was sharpening his weapons for the next week's action.

Then in the second half little A. J. Holloway had the show to himself as he scored both of the Rebel touchdowns to bring the total to 45.

The Colonel was mighty, but the AP and the UPI failed to take note.

Never in history had Colonel Rebel survived an invasion of Shields-Watkins turf—not until 1960, that is.

The Hoss struck from the second in the first period, but the Vols came back with a field goal. Then the MAN Green countered with a three-pointer of his own, and it was 10-3 at the half. There was no mercy in the Colonel's heart this day.

Then in the final round the Hoss ran 43 yards on the "play of the week," and Gibbs and Crespino teamed up to complete the route.

It's a pity the AP and the UPI couldn't have watched this one on television.

When Missouri fell, Colonel Rebel should have been named NUMBER ONE. Our friends up North, however, were not of the same opinion. Thus we had but one recourse: to Wreck The 'Necks in such a manner that no one could possibly doubt our claim to the throne.

And Wreck The 'Necks We Did!

The poor Maroons really tried, but the ruthless Colonel Rebel unleashed his wrath and sent the Bullpups vowing all the way back to Starkville.

The massacre started in the second when Big Jawn snared a shot from the Rifleman for ten yards and the score. Moments later Crespino duplicated the feat.

Gibbs, Sullivan, and Adams each scored in the third. The helpless 'Necks began to wish they had spent the day in bed.

As for the AP and the UPI, . . . Well, they won't let us say such things here.

Playing his best game of the year, sophomore Louis Guy picked up thirteen yards against the 'Necks.

Basketball at Ole Miss in 1961

It was one of those lean years for Colonel Rebel's ambitious round ball participants as, the dominating force within the Southeastern Conference in football and baseball, ole Reb fell to the bottom of the heap for the second time in the last three years.

Most of the folks that are supposed to know said that the Colonel should do more than hold his own in the rough and ready SEC—before all the shouting began, that is. The credentials were there—the league's number two scorer the year before, a pair of outstanding rebounders, plus a couple of fast moving backcourt men.

Senior forward Jack Waters, a refugee in Mississippi from Madison, Ind., topped all pointmakers for the year with almost 500 points scored at the rate of approximately twenty per game. Center Sterling Ainsworth, a junior, scored at the rate of thirteen points an outing, while Bill White averaged almost eleven.

Southeast Louisiana College invaded Oxford for the season's opener and probably wished they had stayed at home as the Colonel had his buckshot popping to the tune of 81-56. Another five from the Cajun country bit the dust next as the Colonel quickly put the axe to Loyola's thoughts of a victory in Oxford, 79-69.

Then the Colonel made his first tactical error in trying to take on another state and found that despite the fact that they don't wear shoes 'til they're twenty-one in Arkansas, they do know how to play basketball. The results: Arkansas State Indians 59, Colonel Rebel 53; Arkansas Razorbacks 77, Colonel Rebel 71. However, when the Indians tried to press their luck at Oxford, the Colonel was ready and won 86-47. Then Loyola wanted a rematch at New Orleans and won it 64-60.

Coach B. L. (Country) Graham chatted with forward Jack Waters, two times All-SEC and three years the Rebs' top scorer.

During the Christmas Holidays the Colonel vacationed in the Gulf-South Tournament in Shreveport, La., finishing a strong second behind South Carolina. The Colonel stopped Georgetown in the opening round 78-73 and then reached the finals by beating Middle Tennessee 64-62. The next night the Gamecocks were a little too tough and took the title 85-79.

but the host teams weren't too neighborly to Colonel Rebel as Alabama won 80-54 and Auburn came out on top 51-40.

But then the Colonel retreated to Oxford and really fooled some folks. Georgia Tech brought in the fabled Roger Kaiser on Saturday night, but saw him held to his lowest total of the season, ten points, and the Colonel won 59-57. Then Vanderbilt, at the time among the nation's ten top teams, stumbled in on Monday and out the next day after taking a 74-72 licking.

Dead Week found the Colonel swimming his way through the mud (?) to get to Cow College, and dead the Colonel was when he finally got there, losing 63-40.

Memphis State was challenged during exam week, but with three key players riding the bench with injuries the 88-61 Tiger triumph was hardly surprising to anyone.

Then the Cajuns invaded and all hell broke loose. It had been over a year since the Colonel had dropped a major sport event in Oxford, but Tulane spoiled the dream and the Colonel ran for cover before the 90-67 Green Wave offensive. L.S.U. made it two in a row, winning 75-69 after the Colonel had led up until the last ten minutes.

Adolph Rupp's Wildcats from Kentucky lived up to their name in Jackson, taking the Colonel's hide by a 74-60 count. But once the Colonel got back to Oxford, he made a stand and knocked off invading Tennessee 57-55.

After that the Colonel took to traveling again, but it took four stops before a mark could be made in the victory column. At Athens, the Georgia Bulldogs ran scared all the way but managed to win 73-69. Florida's Gators waited until overtime before finally edging by 81-77. Then it was Tulane and how the Wave roared. The margin of victory—87-71.

Finally at L.S.U. the Colonel got a few breaks. Behind 31-22 at intermission, the Colonel came back on to the floor and left with a 48-46 victory and a thoroughly annoyed pack of Cajuns yelping helplessly.

And after the finale with Cow College, all you could hear the Colonel saying was, "Wait 'till next year."

Bill White's charity toss swished the net for another score.

Bill White battled with an L.S.U. player for a rebound.

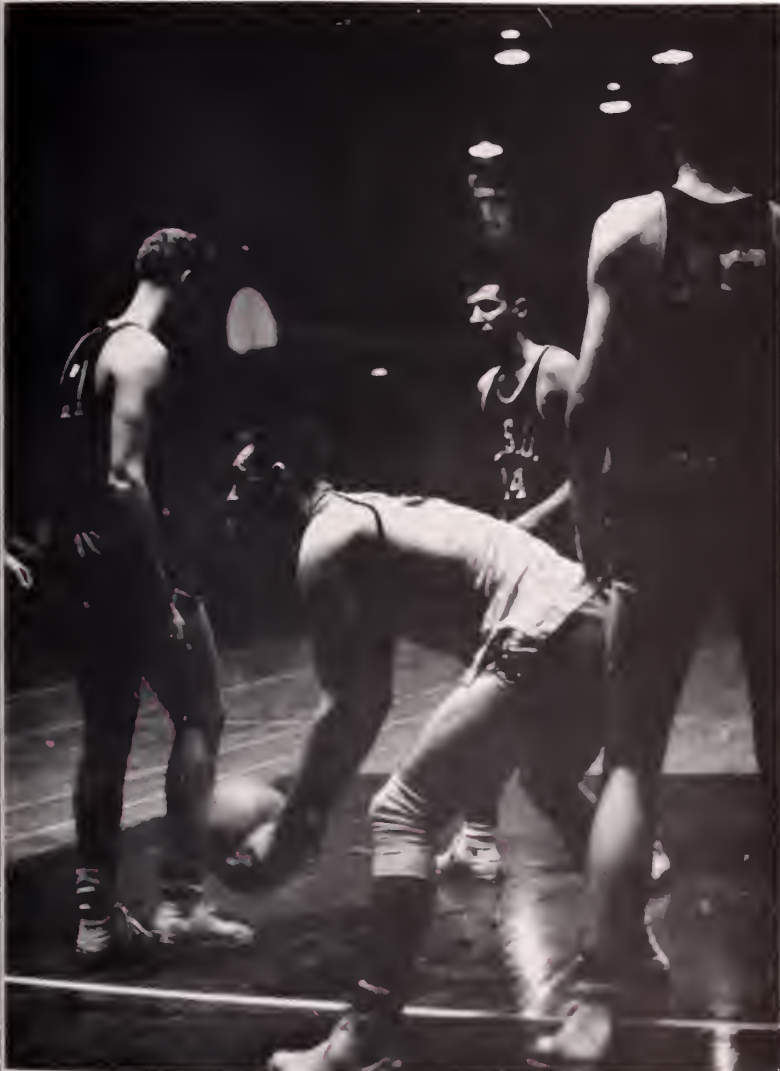

Jack Waters sank a free throw against Tennessee.

Sophomore El Edmonds scored another one pointer against the Tigers.

Jack Waters fielded a loose ball and threw it out of trouble.

Colonel Rebel, who formerly achieved his athletic reputation solely from his achievements on the gridiron, found a new fulltime contributor to sports fame in the spring of 1960 as the Ole Miss baseball team performed with such power and precision that even Johnny Vaught must have been a little jealous.

Fifth place in the national Associated Press poll, a second straight Southeastern Conference championship, and a 22-3 won-lost record—these were only a few of the many accomplishments of Colonel Rebel on the diamond. And for all anyone knows, he might have been Number One in the nation had he been given the chance.

The highlight of the season was the magnificent 17 game winning streak put together by Coach Tom Swayze's charges in the middle of the season. For a while it seemed as if the Colonel was never going to lose again. All three of the defeats sustained by the squad were in off-campus games.

A pair of one-sided victories over Delta State (14-5, 13-4) opened the season for the defending SEC champs. The only thing good about the road trip which followed was the fact that the Rebel winning streak was begun. First the Colonel's rifles were silenced by Southeast Louisiana 15-4 and then by L.S.U. 5-4 in 12 innings. On the next day L.S.U. was beaten 5-3 and from that point on the story is legend.

Two games with Tulane were rained out. Then Colonel regrouped his forces and returned to Oxford to knock off invading Illinois Wesleyan 8-7 and 13-1 in a double header. L.S.U.

All America Jake Gibbs slid into third with a triple against Cow College.

followed with a trip to the Colonel's home grounds, but the Tiger soon wished that he had stayed at home, losing 7-0 and 13-2.

Next it was Mississippi State's turn and poor ol' Cow College hardly even scratched as the Rebels won 8-0 and 14-1, limiting State to only four singles for the two games.

Second place Alabama then invaded for a series that was to decide the winner of the Western Division, SEC title. After a hardfought opener, in which the Rebels won by only the slight margin of 3-0, the Colonel turned on the heat and sent the White Elephants back to Tuscaloosa with a 10-4 spanking. A pair of 13-2 victories over Tulane completed the long home stand.

The following weekend the Colonel invaded Alabama and wrapped up the title for keeps by stopping the Crimson Tide 8-2 in both games of the two game series. Memphis State fell 10-5 at Memphis as the streak reached 14 games. Then came the invasion of Vanderbilt and two more Rebel victories, 10-0 and 16-0. A 6-2 win over Memphis State brought the total to 17 in a row.

Just how the Cow College crew did it, nobody will ever know. But the 'Necks just went wild in Starkville and walloped the Colonel and his forces 18-4 in a seven inning contest. Though still a little dazed, the Reb edged by 4-3 in the eight inning nightcap.

The playoff with Florida for the Southeastern Conference championship followed. In the opener played in Gainesville, the Colonel spotted his opponent a 7-5 lead in the fifth inning, but then came roaring back to win handily 15-7. The second and concluding game of the series, played at Oxford, was a contest only for a short time. Colonel Rebel emerged with a 6-1 victory, the SEC title, and the obligation to represent the SEC in the NCAA Tournament. However, a certain group with a warped sense of Southern Patriotism, said NO.

Base stealing champ Bobby Kilpatrick swiped another against Alabama.

A very familiar sight in spring, 1960: another Rebel trotting across the plate.

As for the standouts of the season, there were many. Third baseman Jake Gibbs, better known to Rebel gridiron followers as The Rifleman, led the team in hitting with a .424 mark, in hits with 42, in doubles with 10, in RBI's with 32, and in total bases with 65. For his efforts he was named to the Associated Press All America squad.

Larry Williams, Denny Bomquist, and Don Porter were the three outstanding moundsmen in the conference. Williams (7-2), named All-SEC for the second straight year, posted a 1.80 earned run average and led the team with 80 strike outs in 70 innings. Blomquist and Porter were both 7-0 for the season.

Catcher Robert Khayat, and outfielders Billy Ray Jones and Jamie Howell joined Gibbs and Williams on the All-SEC nine. Blomquist, first baseman Ken Netherland, and shortstop Bobby Kilpatrick were on the second team.

Leading hitters were Chuck Tuohey, .425; Gibbs, .424; Blomquist, .406; Tom Farley, .400; Kilpatrick, .382; Khayat, .326; Doug Elmore, .313; Howell, .304; Jones, .281; and Netherland, .253. Jones led the team in home runs with five.

All star catcher Robert Khayat connected for a two base hit against Tulane.

Although track and field is not participated in on as large a scale as some of the other sports at Ole Miss, the Rebel cinder men produced several outstanding performances during the 1960 spring season. Coach Wes (Doc) Knight served as tutor for the Ole Miss thinclads.

The Rebels took part in four meets during the season, opening with the Memphis Relays, followed by the Southwestern Relays at Lafayette, La., the AAU Meet in Baton Rouge, and the Southeastern Conference Meet at Gainesville, Fla.

George Blair and Bobby Franklin handled the chores in the sprint division—100 and 220 yard dashes. The 440 yard relay team consisted of Chuck Morris, Buddy Crosby, Franklin, and Blair. The 880 yard relay team was composed of Chico Taylor, Bobby Crespino, Morris, and Crosby. Pat Patterson entered the broad jump and javelin throw events.

As a whole the freshman were more outstanding than the varsity. Jim Dunaway was the SEC frosh champion in the shot put with a heave of 48' 3½". He also finished second in the discus throw. The 440 yard relay team (Louis Guy, Mel Edmonds, El Edmonds, and Larry Smith) set a freshman-junior college division record in the Memphis relays with a 43.15 second performance. The 880 yard relay team (Jimmy Hollingsworth, Edmonds, and Smith) set a meet standard with a 1:29.6 time at Memphis.

Colonel Rebel's performance on the tennis courts in 1960 was a most successful one, despite the fact that the top three players from the previous year had been lost from the squad by graduation.

Coach John Cain, serving as net mentor for the fourth straight year, was ably assisted by Coach Buddy Williamson in guiding the squad to a record of eight victories and five defeats.

Sharing the spot as the number one singles performer were a pair of seniors, Milburn Price and Dick Newberg. Both played outstanding tennis on occasions.

The squad opened with three straight victories, downing Birmingham-Southern 9-0, Alabama 9-0, and DePauw 5-4. Then arch-rival Mississippi State defeated the Rebels by a 7-0 score. Following this the Rebs defeated Concordia 7-0, Southwestern 7-2, and the Jackson Recreation Department 7½-4½ before dropping a pair of 3-6 decisions to Vanderbilt and L.S.U.

In the Mississippi Intercollegiate Tournament the Rebels finished second behind Mississippi State. This was followed by a 7-2 victory over Southwestern, a 2-6 loss to Mississippi State, a 7-2 win over Alabama, and a 0-9 loss to Florida. In the SEC Tournament the Rebels finished ninth ahead of Auburn, L.S.U., and Kentucky.

The M Club, now for over fifty years the symbol of athletics achievement at Ole Miss, has for its purpose the promotion of sportsmanship and the encouragement of school spirit. The blue M on the red field is emblematic of success in one of the six major sports in which University athletes take part—football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, and golf.

As a result of being an exclusive organization, other requirements besides athletic prowess may be, and often are imposed on its members, viz. initiation! Campus eyes look forward each year to M Club initiation days, when the plights of candidates bring chuckles even from the stearest educators.

The Women's Recreation Association was founded at the University of Mississippi in 1926. It is composed of all girls participating in the intramural sports activities that are conducted on the Ole Miss campus. The organization is governed by a board of representatives from each organization that sponsors a team in any of the independent groups.

This group has as its purpose the provision of activities that girls at the University of Mississippi can enjoy in their leisure time. A sensation is stirred up by awarding points to the winning teams in each event. At the end of the year the points are added up and the group with the greatest number of points wins a trophy.

The Intramural Sports Council, founded at the University of Mississippi in 1935, is composed of students representing various groups on campus—social fraternities, boys' dormitories, organizations, etc.—that participate in the intramural program here at Ole Miss. It is their job to organize and carry out the various intramural programs that are conducted on campus. They set up the rules and regulations regarding the eligibility of students to participate and the other necessary regulations.

Because of the number of groups participating in the intramural program, leagues have to be set up for the various sports and playoffs are necessary to determine the campus champions.

Points are given to the winners and runners-up of the various sports. In addition, each team receives a certain number of points for winning a game in a major sport—touch football, volleyball, basketball, and soft ball. At the end of the year the points are totaled, and the team having the greatest number of points receives a trophy. If a group wins the trophy for three years in a row, it gets to retire the trophy.

The Alumni House

The Alumni House was financed by contributions of alumni of the University of Mississippi and a revenue bond issue was presented to the University on October 20, 1951. It was dedicated to the memory of those alumni and former students who gave their lives in wars of their country. With the adjoining Mississippi Center for Continuation Study it has become a part of one of the most complete adult education centers of the South.

Each fall during the football season the Alumni House is a center of bustling activity as former Ole Miss students pour into Oxford from the four corners of the South. New officers are installed at the Homecoming Game each year.

In the background, a long, single-story building with a flat roof and several windows is visible. The overall atmosphere is quiet and academic.

Greeks

... are an integral part of not only the lives of their members but of campus life as a whole. There is scarcely any sphere --- politics, parties, service, or scholarship --- which is not enriched and enlivened by their participation. The Greek letters which many Ole Miss students bear as almost a part of their names represent to those students a focal point for their friendships, their enthusiasms, and their responsibilities.

Rush Week, so aptly named, is a time of serious decisions which are a prelude to a way of life during and even after college years. The still "high school" freshman pledge is aided and guided by his group in the metamorphosis into a "college man" or woman. Both independence and co-operation must be learned, and with the assumption of fraternity or sorority obligations the student also assumes greater obligations to himself and to the university. Abilities and enthusiasms are expanded and utilized in the many and varied contributions which Ole Miss' nine sororities and sixteen fraternities make to the panorama of campus and community activity.

Rewards are many*

Rewards of fraternity membership are many. Though this realization may grow dim in the wee small hours of the rainy morning when the homecoming decorations are half done, or the band is late for the Spring Formal, or the campaign banner sags sadly after a dozen attempts to hang it straight; there always come the wonderful moments when the party's rolling or the ballots and the Candidate are in. The good brother who pins your best girl and the sister who loses your favorite sweater redeem themselves by the very assurance that they're there, win or lose, to recover together or rejoice together. The graduating senior leaves with a sense of the gain of numerous friendships and pleasant times, and of regretfulness at the loss of the satisfying experiences enjoyed within the bonds of a true fraternal spirit.

The Pan-Hellenic Council of the University of Mississippi is a member of the National Pan-Hellenic Conference. Its purpose is to further active cooperation and understanding among the sororities, non-sorority women, and the University.

The Pan-Hellenic Council strives to promote fine intellectual achievement and scholarship, to maintain high social standards, and to promote worthy projects on the campus. It sets up the methods concerning the rushing of girls each year, limiting the number to be pledged by each sorority and regulating the system by which bids are issued.

The council is composed of the presidents and two representatives elected from each sorority. The officers of the council are selected on a rotation system with each sorority having an officer. Pan-Hellenic also sends a copy of the rush rules to prospective women students.

The Inter-Fraternity Council is an organization designed to regulate and govern the activities of all social fraternities on the University campus. The main duty of the council is carried out each year in the planning, setting up, and enforcing of rules for fraternity rush. Through the coordination of activities, the Inter-Fraternity Council tends to unite the fraternities in a spirit of friendly brotherhood.

It is composed of two representatives from each fraternity. Each representative is chosen by the fraternity of which he is a member. The Council is governed by four officers elected from the membership by the council itself.

Junior Pan-Hellenic Council

The Junior Pan-Hellenic Council is composed of pledges from each of the sororities on the Ole Miss campus. It is an organization similar in structure and objectives to the Senior Pan-Hellenic Council and helps to familiarize the pledges with fraternity life.

Two representatives and the president of each pledge class compose the council. The officers are chosen for Junior Pan-Hellenic on the same rotation basis as the Senior Pan-Hellenic.

Throughout the year, the Junior Pan-Hellenic has several projects. Among these are: the model pledge cups, charity projects, and monetary projects. Miss Julia Waits is the advisor, assisted by Nona Parker, Senior Pan-Hellenic president.

The Council is also composed of a representative from the Senior Inter-Fraternity Council who is elected to serve as president of the Junior IFC for organizational purposes.

The purpose of the Junior IFC is to instill in its membership the principles of the fraternity system. In doing this, the representatives may give to their individual fraternities an incentive to improve its standards, thereby cultivating a better environment where manhood may flourish. ## NU BETA CHAPTER OF

Alpha Omicron Pi

"We won," was the cry which burst forth from so many frantic AOPi's as the chapter took first place in Homecoming decorations this fall.

Ever since their first appearance on the Ole Miss campus in 1957, the AOPi's have steadily cultivated fine scholastic students with Karen Dawson, Kay Segerson, and Diane Boyle, members of CWENS and Alpha Lambda Delta; and Pat Elison, Melba Walder, Martha Tate, and Sheila Stone participating in the Scholars program.

The Nu Beta Chapter of AOPi has also graced the realm of "show business" through its two Ole Miss Rebelettes, Carolyn Henry and Bonnie Ferguson, and its talented member of University Players, Barbara Becnel.

Nu Beta's outstanding social event, its annual "Big-Little Sister" party, supplies the perfect note on which to end a profitable year.

Chi Omega

Chi Omegas became the "House of Beauties" this year as six Chi O members received beauty honors.

Miriam Wilson and Linda Dilworth, campus favorites; Martha Lovelace, Homecoming Queen and an Ole Miss beauty; Patty Povall, Miss University; Huddy Jones, Rebelee Queen; and Linda Lackey, Maid of Cotton, were the reigning queens of Tau Chapter.

Spreading the "seeds of wisdom" in the Chi O house were the active members of CWENS, Mary Carter, Linda Lackey, Rose Clayton, and Lynn Scott; Alpha Lambda Delta member, Jane Harmon; and Lou Schmelzer, Margaret Love Gathright, Gail Abernathy, Martha Lovelace, Teresa McAlister, Preston Myers, and Judy Lynn, Mortar Board members.

Tau Chapter's charity project was their party for underprivileged children which highlighted their Christmas season.

Then it was on with the guise of "Party Dolls" as the Chi Os planned and decorated for their annual spring formal—the prominent event winding up the Chi O social agenda.

CHI CHAPTER OF ## MEMBERS

Delta Delta Delta

"Oh! They call it that good ole mountain dew," is the phrase that came rollicking through the Tri Delt house as their traditional "Hobo" pledge party got underway.

The above was indeed a gay occasion, but the "DDD's" have their serious moments too. Rae Ragsdale, secretary of the Committee of 100, and Nan Davidson and Love Henick, other members of this committee, are ample proof that the Tri Delt balance their work and pleasure. Donna Bess Bailey, Lynn Ruble, and Jerry Gooch, members of CWENS, also do their share in keeping the scales on an equal level.

Chi Chapter's girls may look like "hobos" one minute, but they can be beauties in another. Verifying this statement are Kay Burns and Sandra Scarbrough, two of Ole Miss's top five beauties; and Mary Jo Oden and Sally Sayle, campus favorites.

Even with all of their many campus activities, the Tri Delt still do not forget their "old folks at home." The chapter annually entertains their mothers with a "Pansy" breakfast in the spring—an appropriate event to complete the chapter's social calendar.

ALPHA PSI CHAPTER OF

Delta Gamma

Proudly claiming themselves as the Mother Chapter of their national sorority, the Alpha Psi "Delta Gams" are ever striving to keep themselves a worthy "parent" of the sorority's other 87 chapters.

Kay Mounger, president of Mortar Board, along with Jill Anthony, Nan Ford, Sara Kay Lockard, and Judy Trott, other members of this honorary organization, serve as stable "anchors" in aiding their sorority to maintain its founding principles.

Exemplifying that beauty and friendliness are invariably present on the Ole Miss campus, Ann Klaus possesses the title of Ole Miss beauty, while Hicky Wallace reigns as Engineering Queen, and Diane Klyce and Susan Sadler host Campus Favorite titles.

To cheer the chapter on in its ventures are its two varsity cheerleaders, Susan Sadler and Hicky Wallace, and its freshman cheerleader, Judy Carrington.

The Delta Gammas round out their year with their annual service project of presenting gifts to the blind children in connection with the fraternity project of Sight Conservation and Aid to the Blind.

ALPHA MU CHAPTER OF

Kappa Delta

Kappa Deltas spent the year enthusiastically watching an architect's dreams come true as their new house developed from blue prints to a home in reality.

Trying to give the contractor advice on how to speed up his construction, an effort which resulted only in a delightful distraction for the workers, (and who can blame the workers with such "Lovelines to look at?") were the anxious but exquisite Pat McRaney, Miss Mississippi; the gracious Pat Chadwick, Miss Jackson; the charming Becky Huey, an Ole Miss beauty; and Elizabeth Ann Judge, the lovely Miss Oxford.

Alpha Mu became quite politically minded this year with Kay Lamb, Sylvia Dame, Peggy Keady, Bonnie Dugger, and Rita Hall serving as campus senators and Jean Rawson holding the position of Secretary of the Student Body.

And who knows? Maybe these enchanting politicians with the assistance of the beguiling ways of the chapter's favorites, Lorraine Forbes and Helen May, will pass a bill demanding that "all new sorority houses be completed in one semester." It's an idea. Surely would save active headaches!

DELTA RHO CHAPTER OF

Kappa Kappa Gamma

"Company Halt" command the military minded Kappas as they usher a Kappa "first" onto the Ole Miss Campus. Rita Wilson, the Colonel's Lady; Pat McInnis, Air Force R.O.T.C. Sponsor over ten southern universities; and Shelby Grantham, Navy Battalion R.O.T.C. Sponsor, prove Delta Rho Chapter the first to capture the top three R.O.T.C. Sponsor titles in one season.

To make sure that the chapter maintains its scholarship as well as its campus activities is the versatile Janell Maxwell, member of Mortar Board.

Delta Rho is proud of her two class secretaries Johnette Walker, senior, and Mary Lou Pace, freshman; Sidna Brower, member of "The Mississippian" Staff, and Pat McMullan, one of the annual staff editors, bring in the news "hot off the presses."

"A pretty girl is like a melody," and Rita Wilson, one of the Ole Miss top five beauties; Mary Lou Pace, Miss Hattiesburg; Amy Permenter, campus favorite and varsity cheerleader, and Nona Parker, Pike Dream Girl, seem to create quite a symphony in the Kappa House.

With the aims of promoting better student-faculty relations, the Kappa highlighted their year with a Faculty Tea during the Christmas season.

ALPHA DELTA CHAPTER OF

Phi Mu

"Comment allez-vous, mademoiselle," possibly was heard at the Phi Mu's Christmas party for foreign students. This notable event is the chapter's contribution toward creating greater understanding between Ole Miss students and their foreign guests.

Supplying the campus with information on the social events of all organizations as well as of their own Alpha Delta Chapter are Barbara Bentz, Society Editor of "The Mississippian," and Gail Sinnott, Assistant Society Editor.

To add style and good looks to the Alpha Delta Chapter, Lynn Rogers copped a favorite title; Martha Sue Orr and Diane Perry were chosen Ole Miss Rebelettes; and Sally Hinch reigned as Anchor and Chain Sponsor.

Betty Ross Graves, president of the Women's Recreation Association, keeps the Phi Mus "on their toes" for sports events; while the Committee of 100 members, Jane Teas, Gail Sinnott, and Peggy Hossfeld, work with the Ole Miss "Y" in promoting a more rewarding and stimulating spiritual life for the university students.

"Sweetheart, sweetheart, sweetheart," is the tune probably hummed in the Zeta house, for the ZTA's boast of fraternity sweethearts this year—Robin Reed, Sweetheart of Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Betty Bloom, Sweetheart of Alpha Tau Omega.

Combining her beauty with her musical talent, Ann Adams became an Ole Miss Rebelette and one of the campus's top five beauties.

Beauty is present but scholarship is not forgotten, as Mortar Board claims two Zetas, Ann Adams and Susan McRay, as members, and CWENS selects Lynn Steed and Robin Reed as members with Robin Reed being elected president of this sophomore honorary organization.

The Zetas completed their chapter program this season with a party for the underprivileged children.

Alpha Tau Omega

It's "do good to your neighbor" time at the ATO house when the ATO's launch into their Help Week program. This is an annual service project through which the ATO's, with the aid of one of the campus sororities, help those local people who are less fortunate.

With Bill Nobles, Judicial Council Chairman, and Bobby Russell, President of IFC, interpreting the "rules" of campus life to the fraternity, Jimmy Bailey and Harley Garrett, Commanders of R.O.T.C. units, hold Delta Psi Chapter to the "letter of the law."

Making certain that all university students, as well as the ATO's, are informed of all campus "escapades" is Mac Dale, Editor of "The Mississippian."

When spring has "sprung," then it's off with the work clothes and on with the tux as the ATO's entertain with their spring formal, the major festivity on their social calendar.

BETA BETA CHAPTER OF

Beta Theta Pi

One of three fraternities founded at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, the Betas proudly claim recognition as a member of the Miami Triad.

Making scholarship one of their major fraternity aims, the Betas now have Bill Pyle and Harold Weathersby participating in the University Scholars program.

Peyton Moncrief and Phillip Bryant, Committee of 100 members, find it their responsibility to assist the University in promoting religious emphasis on the Ole Miss campus, while Bill Cooper, Cardinal Club representative, and Jack Lynch, IFC member, work toward achieving greater school spirit among the university students.

Winding up the year, the Betas go strictly "Bohem" at their spring Bohemian Party--the social highlight of the year.

"Let's have a party," demand the "perpetual-partying" Dekes as they hit the Ole Miss campus for a new year.

But "party time" is not the only occupation of the Dekes; there is a "work time" too. Ernest Thomas, President of the Freshman Class, and Dick Newburg, President of the Intramural Council, are excellent examples of the conscientious workers in the Deke Chapter.

Informing the chapter of political events are John Caffery, campus senator, and Luther McDougal, member of the Law Journal Staff and the Moot Court Board.

The Dekes annually complete their fraternity projects with their party for underprivileged children.

PHI CHAPTER OF # Delta Psi

"Oh when the Saints go marchin' in," may possibly be a tune heard at the Delta Psi spring formal this year as the Delta Psis establish a new tradition in renaming their formal the Saints and Angels Ball.

"Activity-wise" the Delta Psis represent themselves in numerous campus organizations with Neville Herbert, an IFC member; Gary Weale, a campus senator; and James Allen, Cardinal Club member.

Keeping the fraternity "caught up" on the latest developments in science seems to fall on the shoulders of Enrique Anglade, an active member of the pharmaceutical fraternity.

"It's finally done," cheered the Phi Deltas as they moved into their long-awaited new chapter house at No. 1, Fraternity Row.

Introducing their new "mansion" to the campus in true collegiate fashion, the Phi's entertained in the early spring with an "Ivy-League Weekend" full of parties.

Even though busy this past fall making preparations for their new fraternity house, the Phi Deltas did not forget their obligations to their university organizations. Ample proof of this are Dean Copeland, who serves as Treasurer of ODK and Commander of the Army R.O.T.C., Bobby Massengill, President of the School of Commerce and Business Manager of Mississippian, and Jim O'Mara, Vice-President of the Senior "Y".

On the national level, Mississippi Alpha does equally well. They have ranked first in scholarship for three consecutive years and were chosen most outstanding chapter in the nation.

Civic minded, the Phi's also sponsor an annual Community Service Project. Last year's project was the construction of a playground in Oxford.

Since coming to the campus four years before the Civil War, Mississippi Alpha of Phi Psi, has produced a number of outstanding leaders on the university campus.

Luther Aldridge, Vice-President of IFC, and John Daniel, member of the Committee of 100, keep the chapter informed on campus and fraternity functions; while Dick Gabriel, President of the Chemistry Club, makes sure that no "unusual explosions" issue forth from Fraternity Row; and Tommy Murray represents his chapter in Beta Alpha Psi.

GAMMA IOTA CHAPTER OF

Pi Kappa Alpha

"When in Rome, do as the Romans do," advocate the Pikes as they "transplanted Rome" onto the Ole Miss campus with their annual Roman Ball.

These hearty "Romans" set out to "conquer" the university and became represented in every men's honorary group, and leading the attack was Jake Gibbs, 1961 Colonel Rebel and All-American football and baseball star.

To make sure that Ole Miss finances remain balanced, the students elected the Army R.O.T.C. Superior Cadet, Howard Boone, to the position of Treasurer of the A.S.B.

Keeping the Pike "warriors" in shape were Wade Sims, President of Anchor and Chain; John Whitworth, Editor of the Mississippi Law Journal; Tom McGraw, President of the Cardinal Club; and Al Povall, varsity cheerleader.

In the spring with Nona Parker reigning as 1960-61 Dream Girl, the Pi KA's truly became "Roman royalty" at their Pi KA Dream Girl Ball, the crowning event of their social calendar.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

"We've all been a workin' on the chain gang," chant the SAE's at their annual Convict Party, as Hugh Lovelady, chairman of the ASB Dance Committee, keeps the "cons" in step.

Maintaining "strict discipline" over the "inmates" is Gibbs Goodwin, Major in the R.O.T.C.; while Jerry Adams, President of the Freshman and Sophomore YMCA and Ronnie Franklin, President of the Junior IFC, strive to create group cooperation among the men.

The finance situation of the SAE "pen" is well handled by Joe Latham, Treasurer of the "Y"; John Dickenson, member of Beta Alpha Psi; and Al Smith, Treasurer of ADS and Business Manager of the Ole Miss annual.

Being rather unique "prisoners," the only "punishment" to which the SAE's "sentence" themselves is to serve their university through such organizations as the YMCA, the Cardinal Club, and the IFC; and, of course, to defend their lions.

ETA CHAPTER OF

Sigma Chi

The Sigma Chis appear to have formed a "presidents' club" this year as many members copped this high honor in campus organizations.

Just to mention a few: Frank Halbert, President of the School Education; Charles Davis, President of the School of Liberal Arts; David Anderson, President of the Ole Miss Band; were some of the gavel-wielders at the Sigma Chi house.

Politics seem to "make the chapter go 'round" with Charles Davis on the A.S.B. President's Cabinet; Jim Yelverton, Vice-President of the A.S.B.

The political minded Chis, however, are never "without a song" as demonstrated by their delightful campus serenades. To highlight their social season, the Sigma Chis entertain with their eagerly anticipated Sigma Chi Formal at which they crown their Sweetheart, "the girl of their dreams."

"Hoddy Toddy" and a good "Razoo" are the cries which shriek through the Sigma Nu house as Ron Edwards and Guy Hovis, varsity cheerleaders, warm up to lead the Old Miss Rebels on to victory.

Along the social lines, "variety is the spice of life" for the Sigma Nus. Engaging in quite an unusual whirlwind of parties, the Sigma Nus may be seen bopping at the Convict Party; Charlestoning at the Roaring Twenties Party, calypsoing at the Beachcomber Party, "hoedowning" it at the Red Neck Party, and genteely waltzing at the White Star Ball.

Unusual parties, however, are not the only achievements of the Sigma Nus. Under the leadership of Roy Williams and Rob Brisco, the Epsilon Xi Chapter annually observes an Underprivileged Children's Day, and at the present time the Sigma Nus are sending an underprivileged child through school.

"Ahoy there, Matey, the Sigma Phi Epsilon "Pirates" appear on the Ole Miss horizon," may possibly have been the statement of a university student in 1928 as Mississippi Alpha Chapter formally "landed" on the campus.

Hoisting the old pirate flag, is Sam Kirschten, member of Skull and Crossbones, an honor society within the chapter; and making certain that all of the campus "crews" work together is Dick Farrell, prominent Interfraternity Council worker.

Through Chuck Sorenson, A.S.B. committee member and campus senator, the Sig Eps, keep in close contact with the written "law" of the "high seas."

Sharing their "treasure" with those less fortunate, the SPE's annually give a party for the underprivileged children of the Lafayette County area. Then later, in keeping with their "sea tradition," the Sig Eps crown their social activities with a Hawaiian Luau.

"There's been some changes made," proudly exclaimed the Phi Epsilon Pis as they returned to school this fall and witnessed the remodeling of their fraternity house.

Serving the nation, as well as the Ole Miss campus, the Phi Eps claim as members of their fraternity such distinguished national figures as Joseph Altman, Mayor of Atlantic City, New Jersey, and Col. William Freidman, Chief of Army Signal Intelligence Service.

Locally, Morris Schur, Air Force R.O.T.C. officer, helps keep the chapter well in hand; while Carl Aron, member of the Intramural Council, plans the Phi Ep sports activities.

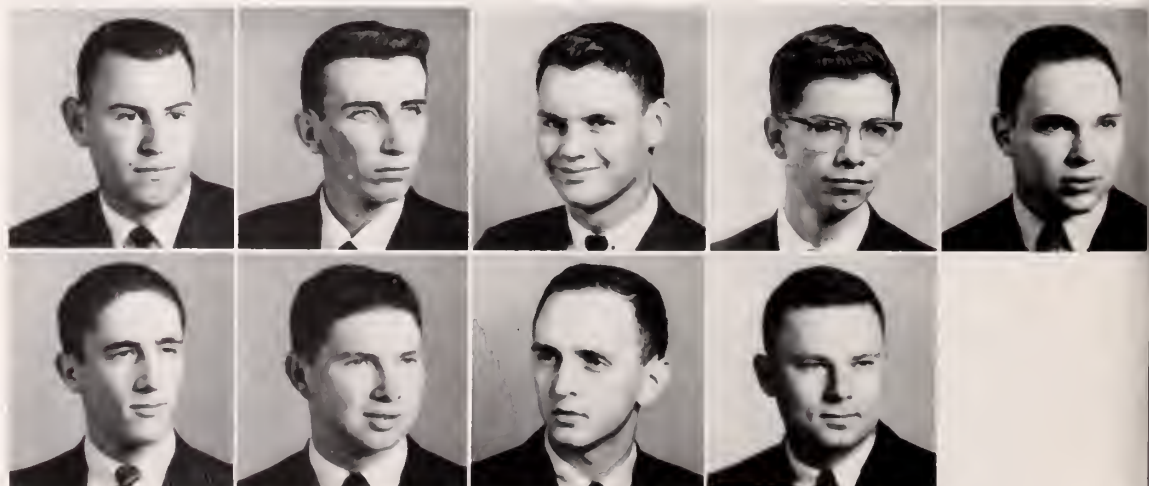

"Yell louder," is the phrase that may be heard reverberating through the Phi Ep house, as Doug Lewis, Cardinal Club member and Class Editor of the Ole Miss annual, endeavors to boost "school spirit" on the university campus.

Entertaining with various informal parties throughout the year, the Phi Eps highlight their social activities with a "bermuda" party at Rebelee.

Phi Kappa Theta

Growing out of a merger of Phi Kappa and Theta Kappa Pi, the Phi Kappa Theta Roman Catholic fraternity arrived on the Ole Miss campus in 1949.

Since Chi Chapter is of a religious nature, as well as of a social one, it endeavors to strengthen the spiritual well-being of its members and the entire university through promoting religious emphasis on the campus.

In claiming John F. Kennedy, President of the United States, as one of its fraternity members, the Sigma Pis have just cause to be extremely proud of their membership.

Organizations

Life at Ole Miss is made more complete because of the many and varied organizations. Each student may develop and enlighten himself through participation in one or more of these groups, with their opportunities for increasing knowledge and friendships. The intangible benefits received from such associations greatly aid the student in later life.

Each spring Mortar Board re-evaluates its own contributions and standards, then, on Honors Day in Fulton Chapel, taps new members according to its highest ideals. Mortar Board is more than an honorary organization, however. The campus situation is constantly studied, and service is rendered when needed.

Mortar Board joins with ODK in sponsoring the ODK-Mortar Board Forum series which continues throughout the year. They invite internationally famous persons to speak on pertinent subjects. Honors Day is also under their supervision.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Membership in Omicron Delta Kappa is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a male student at the University of Mississippi. The members are chosen on the basis of leadership which they have exhibited as well as certain moral and intellectual standards set up by the circle.

To be considered for membership in ODK, a person must be in the upper one-third of his class, scholastically. Membership must include only two per cent of the total male enrollment and must be apportioned among the five phases into which ODK divides college life. Those phases are: (1) Scholarship, (2) Athletics, (3) Student Government, (4) Publications, and (5) Speech, Music, and Dramatic Arts.

Although primarily an honorary organization, ODK performs many services to the University and its students. The principal project is the forum series, sponsored in conjunction with Mortar Board, which brings nationally and internationally known figures to the campus to speak on pertinent topics. Another service of ODK is its Foreign Scholarship Fund which is awarded to one of the foreign students on campus who meets certain standards and who is deemed to need financial assistance.

Wesley Foundation

The Wesley Foundation is the Methodist Church at work on the University campus. As a local unit of the National Methodist Student Movement (which is affiliated with the World and National Student Christian Federation) it strives to interpret the purpose and emphases of this national organization; thereby becoming a witness to the Christian faith in word and action on the Ole Miss campus.

Through the Wesley Foundation a student is offered the opportunity of growing into Christian maturity, of worshipping God and of expressing his Christian commitment through service in its total program. The Wesley Foundation provides a Christian criteria for an evaluation of the University endeavor.

Finally, the job of the Wesley Foundation, as a part of the body of Christ, is to strengthen, broaden and deepen the Christian faith which a college freshman brings with him to the University. It attempts to prepare the student for responsible churchmanship, provide him with wholesome Christian fellowship, meet his spiritual needs in time of crisis and help him to find his place as a member of society with the realization that every vocation has the potential of becoming a Christian vocation.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers

The American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Student Chapter, received its charter on the Old Miss Campus in 1957. After a close inspection of the University as a whole, but with special emphasis on the Department of Chemical Engineering, it was decided that this university was qualified to have a chapter. The purpose of the student chapter is to promote the professional development of students of chemical engineering. Furthermore, it endeavors to foster a professional spirit among its members and instill a professional pride in chemical engineering. The activities of the chapter include lectures, movies, and the presentation of papers prepared by the members. In this way the club works to achieve its goal.

American Society of Civil Engineers

Student chapters of the American Society of Civil Engineers provide the opportunity for the beginnings of professional associations. Membership is open to all juniors and seniors in the Department of Civil Engineering, but all students in the department are welcome to attend some of the meetings. Membership in a chapter assures that contacts can be made with the technical and professional progress of civil engineering and with the leaders who are responsible for such progress. Even more important, membership offers the chance to take part in the constructive activities carried on by future leaders of the profession. The student chapter supplements regular class meetings and laboratory work and is the only agency that can relate the professional development of students to the achievements of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers was founded on the University campus as the Mechanical Engineers Club on 15 November 1954. The organization is open to all engineering students, sophomores or above, who are majoring in mechanical engineering. The purpose of the club is to promote better relations among the students and to keep students abreast of the latest developments in the engineering field. Meetings are held at which technical movies are shown, various industrial speakers are presented, and faculty members present papers.

Mississippi Society of Professional Engineers

In March of 1960 a group of interested students and faculty members of the University of Mississippi School of Engineering heard a program concerning the formation of a student chapter of the Mississippi Society of Professional Engineers (MSPE) at Ole Miss presented by three members of the Mississippi Society of Professional Engineers.

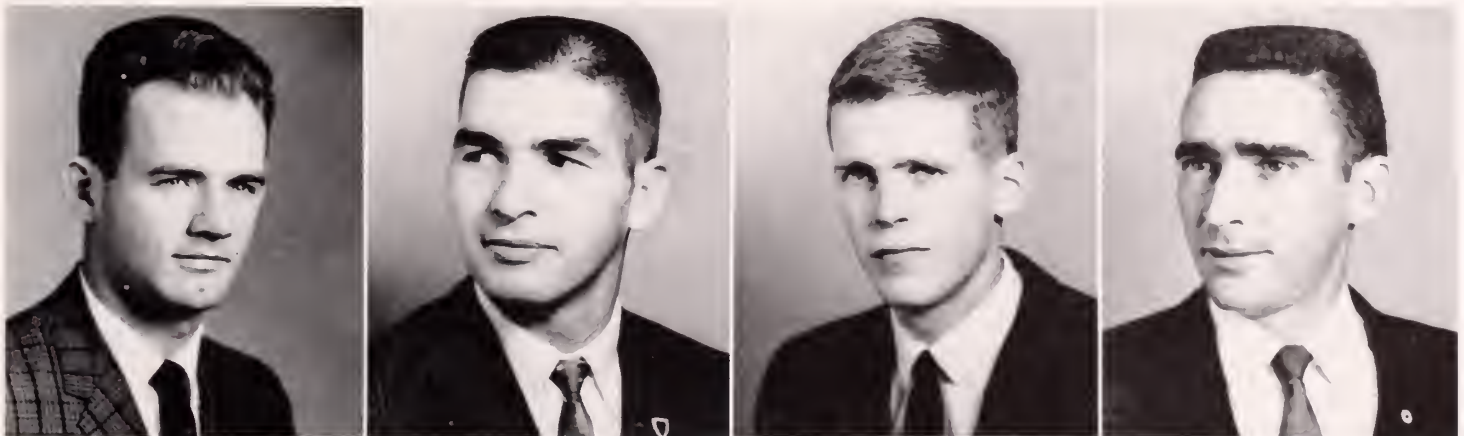

These interested students drafted and circulated a petition for charter. The petition was presented to the State Chapter of the MSPE at their July, 1960, meeting in Biloxi and approved unanimously by the State Board of Directors. Thus the Ole Miss Chapter of MSPE became a reality.

The objective of the student chapter is to provide a program of professional development and orientation of the engineering students.

The Ole Miss Chapter makes up its membership from the entire School of Engineering.

"Religion and Life are one and the same, or neither is anything," believes the University Christian Association. It strives in many ways to unite a campus of natural fragmentation—both social and academic—into a real community based upon a common ground: that of believers in God. Its purposes can easily be discovered in the many types of activities within the organization's program.

These activities are carried out through the joint YMCA-YWCA. The "Y" meets every Monday evening in its own building for worship, study, fellowship and service. The heart of the "Y" is the Cabinet, student leaders who direct Y-sponsored activities—convocations, retreats, stunt night, and countless other projects in cooperation with other campus groups.

Alpha Epsilon Delta is a national honor society for pre-med students who have maintained a 4.5 average over two consecutive semesters. A student who has maintained a 5.0 average after one semester may be pledged. It was founded at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Alabama, in 1926. At present there are over ten thousand members in the sixty-one active chapters in colleges and universities throughout the United States.

The objectives of the society are to encourage excellence in pre-medical work by furnishing a goal toward which the students may strive during the early semesters of his or her pre-medical career; to bind together the similar interested students; and to bridge the gap between the spirit of the pre-medical school and that of the School of Medicine.

Classes

. . . are the basic unit of the University Structure and represent distinctive steps in the student's progression from freshman to senior and from the adolescent to the mature mind. An atmosphere is provided where the student may work with others, thus creating a framework around which many friendships are built. Although the results are often viewed through lengthy columns of figures or pages of statistics, the ultimate achievement is the preparation of a young man or woman for a successful life in modern society.

Studying does not come easy in the library.

Classes at Ole Miss are as many and varied as the people who attend them, and avenues of learning lead to almost any field of endeavor that the student might wish to pursue. Courses are offered ranging from the technical skills of engineering to the aesthetic beauty of art, and supplementing this is a library where both students and faculty may find abundant material on the subjects of their choice.

Students spend quiet evenings in preparation for classes.

A design student puts the finishing touches to a project.

Hours of Study...

Some prefer to study in their rooms or in the library, others seek out the quiet atmosphere of a deserted classroom or even a bench in the grove. Some spend hours in preparation for each day's classes, others wait until exam week and cram.

Regardless of study habits, however, each student is aware of the importance of learning, and each benefits in some way by his stay at the University.

The last class of the week.

New language lab aids students in class conversation.

In the Quest for Knowledge

Study break with study date.

... and then there are final exams.

No thinking problem here.

There are times when an occasional student dozes, as the daily routine becomes monotonous. There are times when it seems that the classes will never end and the weekend will never arrive, but, after the fun is over, the good student will always return with renewed vigor to the task of preparing for what lies ahead—a transition from the world of the university to the world that lies beyond.

The power of concentration.

In silent anxiety, students look for the result.

A FRIEND

In Retrospect

Back at school a week early, the Greeks organize their rush propaganda.

Rush and Registration . . .

Confused rushees listen to speech after speech after speech. Will it never be over?

Yes, I'm a rushee.

Even IBM couldn't eliminate the confusion of registration!

. . . Welcome, Rebels!

I'm sorry, but all the social dancing classes are full.

The city of Oxford entertained students with its annual street dance on the town square.

Bonfires blazed outside Miller Hall as the Rebels prepared for a fight.

Hoddy toddy!

Pep Rallies That Kept Spirits High . . .

Freshmen get in the spirit of things at the pajama parade.

Yes, I'm in the Cardinal Club.

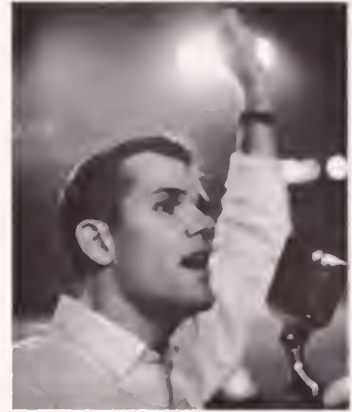

A thunderous roar greets the Rebels as they come on the field.

Ya-a-a-a —Rebels!

Give 'em Hell, Sammy!

... and Those Unforgettable Football Trips

Who's that nut with the sunglasses on?

Look at Amy!

Some of the more energetic freshmen joined in the foot race around "Union Loop."

Prior to Homecoming . . . "Freshman Day"

Be careful with those eggs, girls.

Even the "Meats" joined in the fracas with an egg-throwing battle.

A lovely young co-ed leads the law school parade.

Has anyone seen Miss Belk's wig?

. . . and the Law School Pep Rally

The more conscientious students were routed out of the library for participation in the big rally.

The residents of "Women's Terrace" turned out in force.

Homecoming Queen, Martha Lovelace, reigns over half-time activities.

"Mama" in action.

Ole Miss at its Best . . .

After-game refreshments . . . Welcome Alumni.

Ouch! that tickles!

The Dean and faculty were in attendance.

Queen Sharon Thompson and her court.

.. and Then There Was the Murder Bowl

Cheerleaders take advantage of the facilities.

Hey, Joe—how about two on-the-rocks?

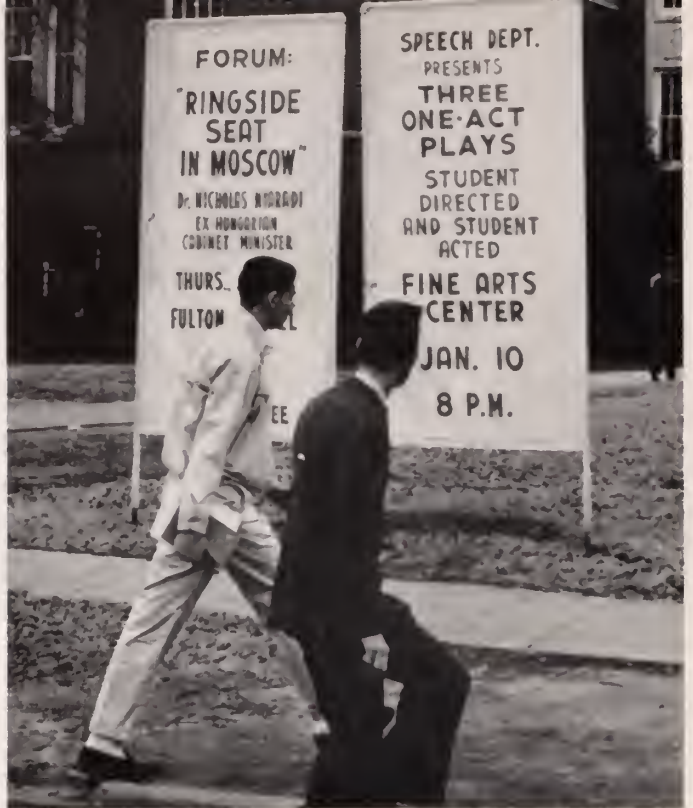

Everyone participated in pre-game warm-up.

Outstanding students, Susan Moorehead, Dick Wilson, David Hicks, and Charles Matthews, represented Ole Miss on the G.E. College Bowl over nation-wide TV.

Throughout the year political forums, plays, and concerts provided students with an opportunity to broaden themselves.

Special Events Interrupt

The University Chorus gave several concerts throughout the year.

The University Galleries in the Fine Art Center contained exhibits in almost every field of art—painting, graphics, sculpture, and ceramics.

Members of the cast rehearse for the student production of the musical "Carousel," presented in Fulton Chapel during the month of March.

Life at Ole Miss

Peals of laughter could be heard coming from the gymnasium on the night of April 5, as Bob Hope entertained before a packed house.

Peter Arnot, famed puppeteer, gave performances of Marlowe's "Dr. Faustus" and Aristophanes' "The Birds."

The political rally afforded candidates an opportunity to present their platforms to the students.

Howard and Daniel.

Politics...

Friends, Romans, and Countrymen ...

Anxious students crowded into the Lyceum in order to vote.

Is it the KKK?

That lean and hungry look.

Elvis?

... and People

Introducing a new fad at Ole Miss—the bicycle.

The beauty of it all!

Parties...

Date suppers are an important part of fraternity and sorority social life.

Umm... yes

There were times when we really let our hair down.

Well, I don't care if you do want to dance!

Say, what are you boys looking for?

... Forever

Don't you boys know this is a dry state?

Some of us were lucky!

Basking in the Sardis Sun . . . Rebelee!

Wine, women, and wild, wild parties!
